

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. ## PREFACE.

Amidst the gleaming of white, polished marble, the gorgeous, golden ornamentation of the Vestibule touches, at once, the joyous keynote of coloring in the Congressional Library.

As we seem to be lifted, spell-bound, into a region of perpetual brightness, so by the various quotations and inscriptions, which cluster and wreath about its exquisitely decorated halls and pavilions—glistening and glittering with every ray and hue of noble thought and elevating sentiment—the mind is flooded with sunshine.

Lingering, here and there, in a very aureola of glory, sunbeams of wisdom shed their lambent light around the deeply expressive, mural representations on every side. At first, we are lost in happy bewilderment, but soon we awaken to the sweeter consciousness of being gently led by some gracious Ariadne through all this brilliant maze of truth and beauty. For not only are painting and inscription ever charmingly interwoven; but the latter, in many instances, is the open sesame to the hidden treasures of meaning in an artist's special achievement.

*At the end of our delightful tour of inspection,
we find perfect repose in the contemplation of "Human Understanding," so exquisitely typified in the dome of the rotunda. Ethereal whites and blues, tenderly blending with faintest greens and violets, bring to us far-off, touching echoes of the grand symphony of color to which we have just been listening; while the sublime, sentient beauty of the painting itself suggests words for this distant, heav-

*How clearly, then, in responsive reverberation,
we hear the kindred thought-echo,—*

Too low they build, who build beneath the stars.

The Quotations and Inscriptions have been collected in the form of a convenient book of reference, as they constitute one of the most unique ana attractive features of the Library.

For the sake of perspicuity, occasional mention has been made of the subject of a painting or poem, or the location of a set of inscriptions.

Give instruction unto those who cannot procure it for themselves.

CONFUCIUS. Bk. xiii., Sec. 9.

---

The poets who, on earth, have made us heirs
Of truth and pure delight by heavenly lays.

WORDSWORTH. Personal Talk. Sonnet iv.

---

ORPHEUS.

One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.

TENNYSON. Ulysses.

JASON.

A glorious company, the flower of men,
To serve as model for the mighty world,
And be the fair beginning of a time.

TENNYSON. Idylls of the King. Guinevere.

PROMETHEUS.

To the souls of fire, I, Pallas Athena, give more fire, and to those who are manful, a might more than man's.

CHARLES KINGSLEY. Greek Heroes. Perseus.

ACHILLES.

Ancient of days! august Athena! where,
Where are thy men of might, thy grand in soul?
Gone—glimmering thro' the dream of things that were.

BYRON. Childe Harold's Pilgrimage. Canto ii., Stanza 2.

THALIA.

Descend, ye Nine! descend and sing;
Wake into voice each silent string.

POPE. Ode on St. Cecilia's Day.

TERPSICHORE.

O heaven-born sisters! source of Art!
Who charm the sense, or mend the heart.

POPE. Two Choruses to the Tragedy of Brutus.

Litera scripta manet.

That which is written endures.

Liber delectatio animæ.

Books, the delight of the soul.

Study, the watchword of fame.

Dulces ante omnia musæ.

The muses, above all things, delightful.

In tenebris lux.

In darkness light.

"L'ALLEGRO."

Come, thou Goddess, fair and free,
In heav'n yclep'd Euphrosyne,
And by men, heart-easing mirth.

Haste thee, Nymph, and bring with thee
Jest, and youthful Jollity,
Quips, and Cranks, and wanton Wiles,
Nods, and Becks, and wreathéd Smiles,
Such as hang on Hebe's cheek,
And love to live in dimple sleek.

MILTON. L'Allegro, 11; 25.

*Altered from the following line:

"Or bid the furious Gaul be rude no more."

* These inscriptions are from unknown authors.

"IL PENSEROSE."

Hail, thou Goddess, sage and holy,
Hail, divinest Melancholy.

Come, but keep thy wonted state,
With even step, and musing gait,
And looks commerçing with the skies,
Thy rapt soul sitting in thine eyes :
There held in holy passion still,
Forget thyself to marble.

MILTON. Il Penseroso, II; 37.

"UNEXPRESSED."

Dwells within the soul of every Artist
More than all his effort can express.

No great Thinker ever lived and taught you
All the wonder that his soul received.

No true Painter ever set on canvas
All the glorious vision he conceived.

No Musician . . . . .

But be sure he heard, and strove to render Feeble echoes of celestial strains.

No real Poet ever wove in numbers
All his dream.

Love and Art united
Are twin mysteries ; different, yet the same.

Love may strive, but vain is the endeavor
All its boundless riches to unfold.

Art and love speak, but their words must be
Like sighings of illimitable forests.

ADELAIDE PROCTER. Unexpressed.

Order is Heaven's first law.

POPE. Epistle iv., 49.

Memory is the treasury and guardian of all things.

CICERO. De Oratore. i., 5.

Beauty is the creator of the universe.

EMERSON. Essays. The Poet.

A little learning is a dangerous thing ;
Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring.

POPE. Essay on Criticism. Pt. ii., 15.

Learning is but an adjunct to ourself.

SHAKESPEARE. Love's Labour's Lost. Act iv., Sc. 3.

Studies perfect nature and are perfected by experience.

BACON. Essays. Of Studies.

Dreams, books, are each a world ; and books,
we know,
Are a substantial world, both pure and good.

WORDSWORTH. Personal Talk. Sonnet iii.

The fault . . . . . is not in our stars,
But in ourselves, that we are underlings.

SHAKESPEARE. Julius Caesar. Act i., Sc. 2.

The Universal Cause
Acts to one end, but acts by various laws.

POPE. Essay on Man. Epistle iii., 1.
Creation's heir, the world, the world is mine.

GOLDSMITH. The Traveller. Line 50.
Vain, very vain, my weary search to find
That bliss which only centres in the mind.

GOLDSMITH. The Traveller. Line 423

Man raises, but time weighs.

MODERN GREEK PROVERB

Beneath the rule of men entirely great,
The pen is mightier than the sword.

BULWER-LYTTON. Richelieu. Act ii., Sc. 2.
The noblest motive is the public good.

VIRGIL.

The first creature of God was the light of sense; the last was the light of reason.

BACON. Essays. Of Truth.
The light shineth in darkness, and the darkness comprehendeth it not.

JOHN. i., 5.

All are but parts of one stupendous whole,
Whose body Nature is, and God the soul.

POPE. Essay on Man. Epistle i., 267.
In nature all is useful, all is beautiful.

EMERSON. Essays. Art

THE LIFE OF MAN.

For a web beginn God sends thread.

PROVERB.

The web of our life is of a mingled yarn,
good and ill together.

SHAKESPEARE. All's Well that Ends Well. Act iv., Sc. 3.

Comes the blind Fury with th' abhorred shears,
And slits the thin-spun life.

MILTON. Lycidas. Line 75.

This is the state of man: To-day he puts forth
The tender leaves of hope,

To-morrow blossoms,
And bears his blushing honors thick upon him.

The third day comes a frost, . . . . .
And . . . . . nips his root,
And then he falls.

SHAKESPEARE. Henry VIII. Act iii., Sc. 2.

Too low they build, who build beneath the stars.

YOUNG. Night Thoughts. Night viii., 215.

There is but one temple in the Universe,
and that is the Body of Man.

NOVALIS. Philosophy and Physics. Vol. ii.

Beholding the bright countenance of Truth,
in the quiet and still air of delightful studies.

MILTON. Introduction to Church Government. Bk. ii.

The true university of these days is a collection of books.

CARLYLE. Heroes and Hero Worship: The Hero as a Man of Letters.

Nature is the art of God.

SIR THOMAS BROWNE. Religio Medici. Pt. xvi.

There is no work of genius which has not been the delight of mankind.

LOWELL. Among my Books: Rousseau and the Sentimentalists.

It is the mind that makes the man, and our vigor is in our immortal soul.

OVID. Met. xiii., 369.

They are never alone that are accompanied by noble thoughts.

SIR PHILIP SYDNEY. Arcadia. Bk. i.

Man is one world, and has another to attend him.

HERBERT. The Temple: Man.

Tongues in trees, books in the running brooks,
Sermons in stones, and good in everything.

SHAKESPEARE. As You Like It. Act ii., Sc. 7.

The true Shekinah is man.

CHRYSOSTOM.

Only the actions of the just Smell sweet and blossom in their dust.

SHIRLEY. Contention of Ajax and Ulysses. Sc. iii.

Art is long, and Time is fleeting.

LONGFELLOW. A Psalm of Life.

The history of the world is the biography of great men.

CARLYLE. Essays. History.

Books will speak plain, when counsellors blanch.

BACON. Essays. Of Counsel.

Glory is acquired by virtue, but preserved by letters.

PETRARCH.

The foundation of every state is the education of its youth.

DIONYSIUS.

The chief glory of every people arises from its authors.

DR. JOHNSON. Preface to Dictionary.

There is one only good; namely, knowledge: and one only evil; namely, ignorance.

DIogenes Laertius. Socrates. Sec. xiv.

Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers.

TENNYSON. Locksley Hall. Stanza 71.

Wisdom is the principal thing: therefore, get wisdom; and, with all thy getting, get understanding.

PROVERBS. iv., 7.

Ignorance is the curse of God; Knowledge, the wing wherewith we fly to heaven.

SHAKESPEARE. Henry VI. Pt. ii., Act iv., Sc. 7.

How charming is divine philosophy!

MILTON. Comus. Line 476.

Books must follow sciences, and not sciences books.

BACON. Proposition touching Amendment of Laws.

In books lies the soul of the whole past time.

CARLYLE. Heroes and Hero Worship.: The Hero as a Man of Letters.

Words are also actions, and actions are a kind of words.

EMERSON. Essays. The Poet.

Reading maketh a full man ; conference, a ready man ; and writing, an exact man.

BACON. Essays. Of Studies.

Science is organized knowledge.

HERBERT SPENCER. Essays Scientific, Political, and Speculative. Vol. iii.

Beauty is truth ; truth, beauty.

Religion.

What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?

MICAH. vi., 8.

Commerce.

We taste the spices of Arabia, yet never feel the scorching sun which brings them forth.

SIR DUDLEY NORTH. East India Trade.

History.

One God, one law, one element,
And one far-off, divine event,
To which the whole creation moves.

TENNYSON. In Memoriam: Conclusion.

Art.

As one lamp lights another, nor grows less,
So nobleness enkindleth nobleness.

LOWELL. Yussouf.

Philosophy.

The inquiry, knowledge, and belief of truth,
is the sovereign good of human nature.

BACON. Essays. Of Truth.

Poetry.

Hither, as to their fountain, other stars
Repairing, in their golden urns draw light.

MILTON. Paradise Lost. Bk. vii., 364.

Law.

Of law there can be no less acknowledged than that her voice is the harmony of the world.

HOOKER. Ecclesiastical Polity. Bk. i., Ch. 16.

Science.

The heavens declare the glory of God ; and the firmament showeth his handiwork.

The Great Seals of Minnesota and California, which are not given in the House Reading Room, are included in the representation of the Seals of the States and Territories, in the semicircular windows in the rotunda.

The distinguished names in Art, Science, Literature, and Mythology; the Printers' Marks; mere words inseparably connected with the surrounding, mural decoration of the various halls and pavilions, and inscribed, in some instances, upon a painting itself,—are not given in this collection, the scope of which is neither biographical nor descriptive. An exception, however, has been made of the groups of single words "In the Dome," and under "The Light of Progress" and "The Light of State," where the meaning was sufficiently definite.
